

Elliotte Schroeder

Elliotte Schroeder is originally from Grand Junction, CO. She began dancing at age three at Dance Works, training in ballet, tap, jazz, modern, and contemporary. Elliotte graduated from Colorado State University with a B.A. in Dance, a B.S. in Business Administration, and a minor in Spanish. While at CSU, she performed in numerous student and faculty works, presented dance research at the National Dance Education Organization conference, and choreographed original pieces featured in university concerts.

Her performance experience includes roles in Cinderella, Sleeping Beauty, Coppélia, The Nutcracker, and works with IMPACT Dance Company in Fort Collins and Authentic: Grooves in Denver. Elliotte has also taught ballet, tap, jazz, and contemporary at studios across Colorado.

Elliotte's classes focus on building strong technique and confidence in a fun, inclusive environment. She is passionate about guiding dancers to discover their authentic selves through movement and is excited to share her love of dance this season.
