

Morgan Montour

Originally from Dayton, Ohio, Morgan began her teaching journey at her home studio, South Dayton School of Dance. There, she assisted and demonstrated for young dancers aged 3 to 6. After high school, she attended the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music (CCM), earning her BFA in Ballet. Pedagogy was a part of the curriculum at CCM, and here is where a true interest was sparked for teaching. She had the opportunity to teach and substitute a few classes during her time in college. Post college, she spent a school year teaching all different styles of classes and age groups, and grew a passion for teaching and a deeper knowledge of technique. She taught ballet, pointe, modern, contemporary, and jazz in the past year! She loves developing connections with her students and helping them understand the technique in any way she can. She is thrilled to continue teaching at Absolute Dance and can't wait to meet all of the lovely students!
